The books which Helen Exley London produce aim to make the world a happier, better place. We publish books that strengthen family relationships, encourage kindness and courage, and bring peace and calm to peoples’ lives.

Helen Exley books consist of quotations from all the great and wise people who have gone before us – and from some of the wisest in our own generation, too. The books are bought by people of all religions and by people of no religion.

To date, we have sold 140 million copies in over forty languages, through some of the great publishing houses of the world as well through small, caring companies.

The 365 Great Days! series, now with 25 titles and continues to grow. It’s our top seller in almost every language.

The Jewel series now has 53 titles selling strongly, and is approaching 7.5 million copies sold.

I hope you will continue to enjoy and support a good selection of our potentially life-changing titles.

Then you’ll also be spreading a little happiness.

With warm wishes,

Helen Exley

These two titles are very important to Helen. Her work in Africa started her dedication and lifelong commitment to helping and working for people. Helen had to leave South Africa because of her non-violent work against racial discrimination and has great admiration for the late Nelson Mandela and his inspirational achievements.
Our beautifully constructed floor spinners will look sophisticated in any type of store, and the small footprint will maximise sales in a very small area. With an ingenious shelf design that is easily adjusted to accommodate any size and style of our gift books, these displays are popular in many types of retail outlet.
